

Anti-corruption Act

Chapter 1 General provisions

§ 1. Scope of regulation and purpose of Act

(1) This Act provides the legal bases for the prevention of corruption upon performance of public duties and liability for any violation of the obligations established. This Act regulates the prevention of corruption and liability outside the performance of public duties only if explicitly provided.

(2) The purpose of this Act is to ensure honest and impartial performance of public duties.

(3) The provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act apply to administrative proceedings prescribed in this Act, taking account of the specifications of this Act.

§ 2. Officials and official positions

(1) For the purposes of this Act, an official is a natural person who holds an official position for the performance of public duties regardless of whether he or she performs the duties imposed on him or her permanently or temporarily, for a charge or without charge, while in service or engaged in a liberal profession or under a contract, by election or appointment.

(2) An official position means the rights and obligations arising from the legislation, transactions or work organisation of an agency upon performance of public duties:

1) to make a decision, including to participate in the making thereof or substantive directing thereof. A decision is the decision making directed at the creation, alteration or extinguishment of the rights and obligation of other persons, including agencies performing public duties, which regulates individual cases or an unlimited number of cases, including legislative acts, administrative acts within the meaning of the Administrative Procedure Act, judicial decisions, and internal legal instruments of an agency;

2) to perform an act, including to participate in it or substantive directing thereof. An act is an activity which causes legal and unavoidable factual consequences to other persons, including agencies performing public duties, and which is not the making of a decision. An act may also mean performing of any other procedural acts, omissions or delays.

(3) An obligation to make a disposition is not deemed to be the competence to make decisions in the case the person has no right to determine the circumstances of the transaction. An obligation to perform an act is not deemed to be the competence to perform acts in the case the person has no right to determine the circumstances affecting the consequences of the act.

§ 3. Obligations of officials and agencies performing public duties

(1) An official is prohibited from:

1) demanding, intermediating and receiving income derived from corrupt practices;

2) corrupt use of official position;

3) corrupt use of public resources;

4) corrupt use of influence;

5) corrupt use of inside information.

(2) In the cases and on the terms and conditions provided by law, an official shall:

1) comply with restrictions on activities and procedural restrictions;

2) disclose his or interests in a declaration of interests (hereinafter declaration).

(3) State or local government agencies, legal persons in public law, foundations established by them and public undertakings within the meaning of the Competition Act shall ensure with respect to the officials performing public duties on their behalf, upon their request or under their supervision:

1) awareness in the field of the prevention of corruption;

2) supervision over performance of the obligations.

§ 4. Income derived from corrupt practices

(1) Income derived from corrupt practices is the proprietary or other benefits offered to the official or any third person due to his or her official duties or demanded by the official, and benefits received by violation of the obligations of the official. Benefits, which cannot be associated with official duties or which are unambiguously understood as common courtesy, shall not be deemed to be corruptive.

(2) An official shall immediately give notification to his or her agency or the person or body who has the right to appoint him or her of accepting benefits which can be associated with official duties. An official shall refuse to accept a benefit defined as income derived from corrupt practices or, if this is impossible, deliver the benefit immediately to his or her agency or the person or body who has the right to appoint him or her. If delivery of the benefit is impossible, the official shall pay the market value of the benefit instead of this. The delivered benefit or the value thereof in money shall be transferred into state ownership or returned, if so provided by law.

§ 5. Corrupt use of official position, public resources, influence and inside information

(1) Corrupt use of official position is the making of a decision or performing of an act in the competence of an official by such official in violation of his or her official duties in the interests of the official or any third persons, participation therein or substantive directing thereof, if this brings about unequal or unjustified advantages for the official or the third person from the point of view of public interest.

(2) Corrupt use of public resources is the use of material and other resources intended for the performance of public duties by such official in violation of his or her official duties in the interests of such official or any third persons, if this brings about unequal or unjustified advantages for the official or the third person from the point of view of public interest.

(3) Corrupt use of influence means the use by an official his or her actual or presumed influence in violation of his or her official duties with the objective of achieving commission of an act by another person or omission thereof in the interests of such official or any third person, if this brings about unequal or unjustified advantages for the official or the third person from the point of view of public interest.

(4) Corrupt use of insider information means the use by an official, in violation of his or her official duties, of undisclosed information which became known to the official in the course of exercise of public authority, which has or would probably have a significant effect on the rights any third person, in the interests of such official or the third person, if this brings about unequal or unjustified advantages for the official or the third person from the point of view of public interest.

§ 6. Notification of incidents of corruption

(1) An official is not permitted to conceal violations of the prohibitions specified in subsection 3 (1) of this Act or any other incidents of corruption known to the official.

(2) If agencies performing public duties, their officials, persons exercising supervision over agencies, persons controlling declarations or bodies conducting proceedings concerning an offence are notified of an incident of corruption, the confidentiality of the fact of notification shall be ensured. Information about the fact of notification may be disclosed only with the written consent of the notifier. If the notifier is involved as a witness in the proceedings concerning the offence, the provisions of proceedings concerning the offence apply to incidents of corruption without violating the confidentiality of the fact of notification.

(3) If the notifier knowingly communicates incorrect information, the confidentiality of the fact of notification shall not be ensured.

(4) Courts shall apply shared burden of proof for the protection of the person having notified of an incident of corruption. A person having recourse to a court shall state in his or her application the facts based on which it may be presumed that he or she has been subject to unequal treatment. If the person against whom the application was filed does not prove otherwise, it is presumed that unequal treatment was caused by notification of an incident of corruption.

(5) The principles provided for in this section also apply in the case of notification of an incident of corruption occurred outside the performance of public duties.

§ 7. Connected persons

(1) For the purposes of this Act, each of the following is a connected person:

1) official's spouse, grandparent, official's or his or her spouse's parent and descendant of official's parent, including official's child and grandchild. For the purposes of this Act, a parent is also deemed to include an adoptive parent, parent's spouse and foster parent, and a relative in descending line is also deemed to include an adopted child and spouse's child;

2) legal person in which at least 1/10 of the holding or the right to acquire a holding belongs to an official or a person connected to him or her;

3) legal person in which the official or any person specified in clause 1) or 4) of this subsection is a members of the management or controlling bodies for the purposes of the Income Tax Act;

4) person who has a shared household with an official, and any other person whose position or activities have a significant and direct impact on the official outside his or her official position or whom the position or activities of an official outside his or her official position significantly and directly influence or who is subordinate to the orders issued by an official outside his or her official position or who acts in the interests or on account of an official.

(2) A legal person is not deemed to be a connected person if the connection of the official and the legal person arises exclusively from the official duties of the official. The competence of representation of a state or local government agency or a legal person in public law the management or controlling bodies thereof is deemed to be an official duty for the purposes of this Act.

(3) An official shall have no obligation concerning the interest of connected persons arising from this Act, if he or she does not or need not know the connection or interest of a connected person specified in subsection (1) of this section.

§ 8. Co-ordination of anti-corruption activities

The Ministry of Justice is the person co-ordinating anti-corruption activities.

§ 9. Select anti-corruption committee of Riigikogu

(1) The select anti-corruption committee of Riigikogu (hereinafter select committee) shall exercise parliamentary supervision over the implementation of anti-corruption measures, discuss at its own the initiative potential incidents of corruption involving officials specified in subsection 13 (1) of this Act and assess these, exercise supervision over compliance with the restrictions on activities of the members of the Riigikogu, verify within the limits of its competence the declarations of interests, inform the Riigikogu and the public of the results of anti-corrupt activities in its competence and perform other duties provided by law.

(2) In order to perform its functions, the select committee has the right to summon persons and require documents and information for examination.

(3) If elements of an offence become evident, the select committee shall forward the materials to an investigative body or body conducting extra-judicial misdemeanour proceedings.

(4) The select committee shall submit an overview of the activities of the committee and the results thereof to the Riigikogu at least once a year.

Chapter 2

Restrictions on activities and procedural restrictions

§ 10. Bases for restriction of activities

(1) An official shall have the right engage outside his or her official duties in any other activities (hereinafter ancillary activity) outside his or her official duties, if this is not prohibited by law and the procedural restrictions are complied with.

(2) Ancillary activities of certain officials may be restricted by law.

§ 11. Procedural restrictions

(1) An official is prohibited from performing an act or making a decision, if:

1) the decision is made or the act is performed with respect to the official or a person connected to him or her;

2) the official is aware of an economic or other interest of that official or a person connected to him or her and which may have an impact on the act or decision;

3) the official is aware of a risk of corruption.

(2) In the case specified in subsection (1) of this section, an official is prohibited from assigning the task of performing the act or making the decision instead of the official to his or her subordinates. An official shall immediately inform his or her immediate superior or the person or body who has the right to appoint the official of the circumstances specified in subsection (1) of this section and the latter shall perform the act or make the decision or assign this task to another official.
